Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 10 August 2007.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8/10/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murray (US Patent 3,960,147).

Murray discloses pliers capable of adjusting a bone plate having two jaws (18/19) that move relative to one another and at least two spaced apart peg members (16/17) that are axially extended to be inserted into bone plates. The peg members have a variable outer diameter, similar to a peg-like shape (see Figs. 3-6, both A and B), and also have a portion that is considered a pressure-exerting element (see drawing below) that creates pressure as the device is used and actuated in squeezing the bone plate.

Further the device is capable of form-fitting to different sized holes, and the peg members extend both substantially parallel or perpendicular, depending on how the device is viewed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murray '147 in view of Pfefferle et al. (US Patent 6,960,211). Murray discloses the claimed invention except for specifically two types of bone plates. Pfefferle et al. disclose at least two types of bone plates (see Figs. 6A and 6B) wherein each half of the plate could be considered its own plate with a single row of holes. They are also considered at least partially planar.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the device of Murray having at least two types of plates in view of Pfefferle et al. to better cover the fracture area desired and to properly secure the plates (See Col. 2, lines 44-66).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 8/10/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. With regard to the claim amendments, the differences between a "peg" and a "pin" are minimal, as both are at least considered to be inserted into the holes of a bone plate. Regarding the structure of the prior art, the device of Murray is capable during its use that the two peg members can be considered a "fixed" distance from one another. The surgeon could hold the bending pliers in a preferred orientation, and thus the two peg members would be fixed. Also, the pressure-exerting element is at least considered "peg-shaped" or at least something that provides a protruding shape. This shape aids in the bending of the plate in use of the device.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
